Update: Biotage Operations are unable to supply the above-listed products with immediate effect.

Root cause: Both resin media product ranges utilise the same base bead raw material which has historically been purchased from an external supplier.

It was discovered that the supplier of the base beads has sold the business to another company who have transferred production from the UK to the USA. At the same time the specification of the raw material has been widened meaning that the base beads fall outside of the required Biotage incoming specification.

Trials carried out on the revised base beads have led to repeated batch failure due to this widened specification which falls outside of our release criteria.

It has not proved possible to find the same base beads from alternative sources.
